TO ALL SING PARTICIPANTS:

I have watched you during your embryonic rehearsals up through your metamorphosis into talented performers. Your sense of enthusiasm, your 'esprit de corps', your sheer grit, will make these evenings memorable. Speaking for the staff, we salute you. You add a dimension to teaching which is unadulterated joy. Hail to thee all.

> Most cordially, Jack L. Groveman, Principal

COORDINATOR'S MESSAGE

I am frequently asked, by people not involved with school, "What is Sing?" I'm quick to respond that it is a competition among the seniors, juniors and sophomores, each of whom writes, choreographs, stages and produces an original musical comedy with no help from the

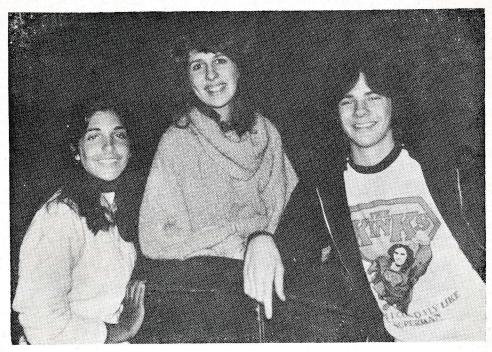

Can students learn and perform in these areas without adult intervention? Ask any one of the thousands of students who have participated in SING since its inception in 1958, and the answer is certain to be an unqualified YES!

In my role as "professional observer", I watch with amazement as backdrops are scrubbed clean of the previous year's artwork and repainted with appropriate new scenes, writers and lyricists create the story and lyrics and choreographers move in pensive solitude creating dance sequences for the lavish production numbers. As this new material is polished, the directors and coordinators bring it all to life with the cast—rehearsing, rehearsing and rehearsing!

All the while, costumes are sewn, props constructed, lighting and sound are put in place and All the while, costumes are sewn, props constructed, lighting and sound are put in place and musical accompaniments are finely tuned. Quite an undertaking — but always a memorable

Tonight's performance is the product of four months of hard work by many people, especially this year's commissioners: Darcy, Jeff and Suzanne, a trio of talented, superb leaders whom I've grown enormously fond of. To them, and to all the members of SING '81, thanks for all the time and energy you have given to make this evening one of the very special events during the fortieth anniversary year of Forest Hills High School.

Fondly, Helen Aronstein

... A MESSAGE OF THANKS ...

After many months of hard work, SING night is finally here. The preparations for the final production are over, and as the curtain is about to rise, the people who helped to make our dream of SING '81 a reality deserve to be thanked.

Special thanks to our Coordinator Mrs. Aronstein, and to Mr. Sirota, who were always there when we needed them. . . .

Class Advisors Ms. Oberman, Mr. Epstein, and Mr. Gurka for their time and energy. . .

Treasurer, Mr. Bass and the Music Department; Mr. O'Connor and the Custodial Staff; the Marshal Squad; hostesses, parents, Mr. Fleming and the Night Center

We are grateful to the superb Stage Crew:

Most of all, our sincerest thanks goes to all the members of SING '81, for without their love and devotion we could not have produced the show you are about to see. I hope you enjoy SING '81 as much as we have.

Darcy Feingold Jeff Levine Suzanne Seiden Commissioners

COMMISSIONER'S MESSAGES

I remember the first time I saw SING, in 1975. I watched with awe as three shows were presented. Could they really have been created entirely by students. And the performers all looked so old. To a girl of twelve, they seemed ancient. The audience too was a source of looked so old. To a girl of twelve, they seemed ancient. The audience too was a source of wonder. As they cheered their friends' performances, I carefully studied the girls, well-dressed and developed, and the boys with (gasp) side-burns. I thought that I would never grow to be so mature. In the years to come I remained in awe of SING. The tuxedoed Commissioners were the latest marvel; their job seemed so hard yet they wrote that they had enjoyed it.

Now I join the list of Commissioners. It wasn't all that long ago when I wondered if I would ever perform in a SING. With all my imagining, not even my wildest dreams came close to the reality. For those of you who have never had the pleasure of being in SING, I'm sorry. You've missed an experience that no words can describe. The shining faces, and fantastic energy of the participants convey something of SING's essence but not everything.

tastic energy of the participants convey something of SING's essence but not everything.

Those of you for whom this great activity is a shadow of your past, there is no need to remind you of the long hours, nervous tensions, self-satisfaction and lasting friendships. Your SING memories will always be a part of you. This address is written for you, future SING members. What seems far away is really quite close. One day you too will be able to bask in the light of SING, the brightest star in the constellation of FHHS. Don't get here and then page up the change. then pass up the chance

To you, present SING members, I cannot express my gratitude for what you've given me. You've made these past five months incredibly special. My co-workers, Suz and Jeff, I have known you both for over five years and we've never been this close; I love you both. Mrs. - we couldn't have done it without you. And a last word to my mom, dad and sister — you encouraged, consoled and brought me back when I passed the point of no return, thank you. And now allow me one cliché; yes, I would do it again, and again, but no more than three times. Others deserve their chance.

My love to all,

When one hears the word Commissioner, one thinks of "the person in charge", or "The know it all". I considered myself neither. I thought of myself as a member of "SING". Some know it all. I considered myself neither. I thought of myself as a member of SING. Some members were voices, some were writers, some were artists — I was a balance scale. For when one side went up, I had to see that the others went up with it. When one side went down, I had to point them in the right direction without "fear of error".

My main goal as a Commissioner for "SING '81" was unity. Unlike some previous years, classes were very open — within themselves, and with other classes. Ideas were shared, and the competition was friendly, not fierce. At the end of the show there will be tears of happiness, and tears of servory. However, I can eafly say that everyone has realized winning isn't every and tears of sorrow. However, I can safely say that everyone has realized winning isn't everything, but playing the traditional game is.

My experience would not have been what it was without my family, and three special people — Mrs. Aronstein, Darcy, and Suzanne. Mrs. Aronstein, you're a great person and I loved working with you. Darcy and Suzanne, you are the best Commissioners ever — keep up the good work.

Teff

SING has meant many different things to me these past few months: — Sleepless nights, missed homeworks, laryngitis, washing the backdrops three times, no white paint, four meetings in one day, interviews from nine in the morning until nine at night, chorus meetings without the choruses, living at school, nightmares, staying on a budget, fast-food breakfast, fast-food lunch, fast-food dinner, of course putting on an extra ten pounds, borrowing a broken record player, no keys for the bell tower or the bike room, no time for soap operas, and no hope of getting parents to chaperone the meetings.

SING is also: ... Giving more than 100%, treasured friendships, teamwork, incredible enthusiasm and spirit, getting along with everybody, endless devotion, learning patience and tolerance, witnessing budding talents and most importantly, feeling the immense satisfaction in We did it ourselves.

saying, "We did it ourselves.'

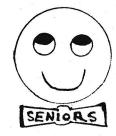

All of you should be proud of yourselves because . . YOU DID IT!!

Despite ALL the crazies I went through, I honestly loved every minute of SING (well, almost every minute). I only wish I could do it all over again.

Thank you Mom and Dad for not putting me up for adoption and truly understanding me. Darcy and Jeff, we've worked together in spite of our different personalities; I cherish you both. Sophs, Juniors, and Seniors — You have made SING worthwhile and a most referent by a speciment for many than the seniors and the senior of t unforgetable experience for me!

All my love, Suzanne
